

Fieldhouse bids awarded; student activity fee is increased one dollar

By Jim Coufal

Four major proposals were approved by the Board of Regents at a special meeting Tuesday. They are:

1. Bids for the completion of the Stadium and Fieldhouse were formally accepted.

2. Local fraternities and sororities that are planning national affiliation are restricted from incorporating any national rules limiting membership to "Christian Caucasians" into their by-laws.

3. At the suggestion of President Bail, the Regents voted to increase the student activity fee from $5 to $6 and to combine it with the $3 athletic fee for a single total of $9. Athletics, student publications and general student activities will each receive $3. All students carrying more than five hours must pay the fee.

4. Farrar Newberry, president of the board, received approval of his suggestion that the Regents support a bill pending in the State Legislature to investigate Communist influences in state-owned schools.

The general construction contract for the Fieldhouse was awarded to the Gilmore Company of Omaha for their low bid of $381,947. They plan to start work by next Thursday, Finance Secretary Charles Hoff said.

Natkin and Company got the heating and ventilation contract with a low bid of $59,340, and the electrical installations went to the Baxter Electrical Company for $27,342. Both companies are in Omaha.

"They have promised to have the Stadium ready by Sept. 30, in time for our home football games," Hoff said. "The completed Fieldhouse, however, will not be ready until December at the earliest and a year from now at the latest."

Council begins investigations

Student "beef box" letters got special attention from the Student Council at their meeting last Friday.

One letter asked why the students were ordered out of empty classrooms when they were studying quietly and not disturbing anyone. Gene Hampton was appointed to investigate the situation.

A second letter stated that money had been missing from billfolds claimed at the Lost and Found. Lloyd Metheny and Mark Gautier were named as investigating committee.

President Dan Koukol suggested a letter of explanation be sent to each student who had offered a suggestion not approved by the Council. This had been practiced last year, Koukol said. Secretary Pat Hasch was appointed to take care of the matter.

Two other committees also were appointed by the Council. Dolores Hughes was chosen committee chairman to plan a program for the Fieldhouse cornerstone ceremony. The ceremony will take place late this month. Other committee members include Ruth Jorgenson, Jackie Smith, Tom Slack, and Gene Hampton.

Seniors to be awarded honor certificates will be named by Bill Arnold, committee chairman, Pat Hasch, and Gene Hampton. Certificates will go to seniors who have been outstanding in both leadership and scholarship. These names will be presented to the Council at their next meeting. Final approval will come from the Faculty Committee on Students Affairs.

Attention seniors . .

All seniors planning to graduate this spring must turn their applications for degrees and associate titles in to the Registrar's Office by noon tomorrow, Saturday, April 9.

Today until 2 o'clock is the last time for seniors to pay their $5 banquet-gift fee. The money is being accepted at the ticket office.

Guidance leader is main speaker on Vocations Day

One of the foremost men in the field of guidance will be the main speaker at Vocations Day, May 4.

He is Dr. Clifford Erickson, head of the Department of Counseling and Guidance at Michigan State in Lansing, Mich.

This announcement was made last week by John E. Woods Vocations Day chairman.

Dr. Erickson formerly of Northwestern University, is author and publisher of several books on counseling and guidance. A consultant on personnel problems for various business concerns and other organizations, he recently was made a member of the North Central Association Committee on Guidance.

Dr. Erickson was one of the main speakers at the fourth annual National Conference on Higher Education held this week in Chicago. Last week he conducted a round table discussion on guidance for the Association.

Due to the limited seating capacity in the auditorium, two talks will be given by Dr. Erickson on Vocations Day. His speech, scheduled for 9 a.m. will be repeated at 10.

"Dr. Erickson is both a capable and interesting speaker," commented Clark Fobes, student chairman for Vocations Day. "His presence here will be one of the biggest factors in making our first Vocations Day a success."

'Christian Caucasian' clause does not appear in frat's constitution

Delta Beta Phi does not have a restrictive 'Christian Caucasian' clause in its constitution, nor will it have such a clause when the business fraternity goes national.

That briefly was President Bail's reply to Beta Tau Kappa's recent letter of protest. The letter asked that the local business and commerce frat, Delta Beta Phi, not be allowed to affiliate with the national frat, Delta Sigma Pi, if the national group insisted upon holding to the restrictive clause.

"The present chapter of Delta

Freshmen vote today; 7 candidates on deck

Today is election day for all freshmen.

A class vice president and Student Council representative will be elected between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. in the west section of the student lounge.

Three candidates for the council post are Wallace Baker, Robert Henkel and Ben Tobias.

Four in the vice presidential race are Marilyn Hartung, Kenneth Hemphill, Richard Nigro and Mary Squires.

Spring Formal tonight at 9

Joe College to be named at dance

Joe College VII will be revealed tonight at the annual Spring Formal.

The dance will be held from 9 to 12 p.m. in the Peony Park ballroom. Morton Wells' orchestra will play. Admission per couple is two activity cards or one activity card and an 85-cent ticket. The Student Council-sponsored dance is semi-formal.

Joe College was elected Wednesday by the university's women students. More than 50 percent of the women students voted. Candidates were Irwin Shultz, Alpha Sig; Harry Elsassner, Phi Sig; Clark Fobes, Independents; Bill Fear, Theta Phi Delta; and Sid Neurenberg, Beta Tau Kappa.

The election is sponsored each year by the Feathers. Jean Satrapa was this year's election chairman.

Spring Formal Committee members include Ruth Jorgenson, chairman, Pat Hasch, Jackie Smith, and June Williams.

Sponsors for the dance are William C. Henry, Paul T. Crossman, Don O. Nelson and R. Wayne Wilson.

Skit outlines must be turned in today

Today is the deadline for organizations to submit outlines for their Ma-ie Day skits in the Dean of Students office.

If any organization has not received a copy of the rules governing the skits, it may obtain one in the Dean of Students office.

The completed script and budget must be turned into C Loyd Schubert, head of the Speech Department, on or before April 22.

Students get full week of vacation

Students will get their last major vacation period of the year next week.

The Easter recess begins at noon tomorrow. Classes will not be resumed until 8 a.m. Monday April 18. A year ago only a four-day vacation was given.

Only other holiday scheduled this semester is the Ma-ie Day celebration May 13.

Staff members of The Gateway will use next week to catch up on schoolwork. No paper will be published until April 22, two weeks from today.

Oxford student life is Coffee Hour topic

Coffee drinkers discussed everything from Oxford dons to Winston Churchill at the Coffee Hour Wednesday afternoon in the faculty clubroom.

Canon Frederick Hood of Oxford University, as guest speaker, answered a barrage of student questions about life at Oxford as well as scattered queries on England's King and Queen, their planned economy, and night life in London.

"The Oxford student is very free from university rules, and is not required to attend lectures," said Canon Hood. "The students are not given semester or yearly grades; the term examinations determine only whether or not a student is succeeding in his work."

Oxford students are required to wear their academic gowns to lectures and tutorial conferences, the Canon said.

Student moderator of the discussion was Glenn Desmond. Other student panel members, who gave Canon Hood a summary of life at OU, were John Madden, Jim Badger, and Bill Farquhar.

Chorus performs at Easter Convo

Traditional music and an Easter meditation were presented at the annual Easter Convocation this morning. Classes were dismissed for the 10 o'clock program.

Nine pieces were sung by the university mixed chorus. Richard E. Duncan, music instructor, is conductor.

An invocation, a scripture reading and the meditation were delivered by the Rev. Frank C. Black, religion instructor and minister of the Central United Presbyterian Church.

Soloists were Richard Farmer, tenor, in "I Was the Tree;" Joanne Kynette, contralto, "A Ballad of Treas and the Master;" Carl Wedel, bass, in "The Lord's Prayer," and Bill Fitzsimmons, violinist, in "The Holy City."

"Ave Verum" by Mozart was sung by the women's chorus. Avonell Otis was accompanist on the program.

OU students are getting smarter

Are OU students getting smarter?

The answer is yes, according to figures from the Registrar's Office. At least more of them are passing, anyway.

In the fall of 1948, 80.7 percent of the courses taken at OU were passed. By last spring the percentage was up to 87.8 and had shown a steady increase in the interval.

A break-down of the grades of a year ago shows that 13.2 percent of them were A's. More than a fourth were B's and a third C's.

Failures, withdrawals, conditionals and incompletes made up 11.9 percent of the grades. "That certainly represents a lot of wasted money," commented registrar Alice Smith.

GREASEPAINT AND NEW WAX

Movies coming up

A Letter To Three Wives, really three identical threats sent by a gal who isn't even seen in the picture, has Linda Darnell, Ann Southern and Jeanne Crain each wondering who will lose her husband to the letter-writing lovely.

Most of it is told in flashbacks as each of the brooding ladies take stock of her marriage.

The Fighting O'Flynn doesn't bother you with any semblance of realism as Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., vaults through windows and picks fights with mobs back in never-never Ireland.

The Red Shoes, coming at road show prices lasts more than two hours. For fifteen of those minutes, it offers the first full-length ballet created for the screen, adapted from Hans Christian Andersen's fairy tale about the little red dancing shoes that kept on dancing until their owner was dead.

Whiplash hero, Dane Clark, gets knocked all over because he wants to save Alexis Smith from her sinister hubby, Zachary Scott, who's having a bad time getting around in a wheel chair. By now everybody's having a bad time, and things get even worse before a taxi takes care of Scott and his wheel chair, leaving Clark and Miss Smith free to be artistic with oil paints.

Live attractions

Live attractions over the vacation include two performances of O Mistress Mine at Tech High tomorrow... Freddy Martin and band begin a week on the Orpheum stage next Friday... Easter Sunday, Tony Pastor brings his band and the Clooney Sisters to Peony Park.

After vacation: April 18 to 20, High Button Shoes takes over the stage at the Omaha... On the 20th, the University Concert Band presents a convocation in the auditorium... Nelson Eddy comes to Ak-Sar-Ben the 22nd... April 25 to 27, Harvey is on the Omaha Theatre stage.

La Verne Sweigard and Jim DiMartino represent the U in Titian, a Junior League play for children, open to the public at Joslyn on April 23, at 1:30 and 3:30 p.m.

Next month Brigadoon comes to the Omaha, and the Les Brown "band of reknown's" Peony Park date isn't too far off.

'Moby Dick' discussed

A discussion of "Moby Dick" by Herman Melville, was presented last Sunday afternoon on the Read It Again series. Participating in the broadcast were faculty members of the English department.

Social parasites

You are losing approximately $576 in services a year due to a few social parasites who are trying to get something for nothing. When non-residents try to slough off phony Omaha addresses on their registration cards, something has to give.

Over the years it may mean an increase in student fees. In the past you have paid for one-third of your education in credit-hour fees. Omaha taxpayers footed the rest of the bill. Now city taxes pay only one-third and your tuition takes care of the remaining two-thirds.

Since non-residents pay nothing to the Omaha tax collector, this one-third difference is made up with a $3 additional credit-hour charge.

Nevertheless, there are always a few hitchhikers. The Registrar's Office has uncovered six student "addresses" picked at random from the telephone book.

It's a pretty clever idea they think. Until they are caught and the case turned over to the school attorney.

But while we are waiting for the courts to take its toll of tuition evaders, we are paying the difference.

Home Ec Department plans tea, open house

It's going to be open house in the Home Economics Department April 21.

Students in the department will take charge of the entertaining. They will conduct tours through the laboratory rooms, act as hostesses and prepare food for a tea in the faculty clubroom.

Nearly 200 guests are expected from high schools in and near Omaha.

The open house will begin in the auditorium where the visitors will hear representatives from various fields of home economics speak on their jobs.

Movies to be shown

Movies on chemistry and molecular theory will be shown at the April 20 meeting of the Chem society.

The meeting will be held in room 438, Bob Rumery, vice president, announced.

Crane talks on Marx

"Karl Marx, the Busted Merchant," was the theme of the talk given by Roderic Crane, Economics Department head, at the recent Town and Gown Club meeting.

"The theme is especially appropriate today," stated Crane "for Marx has found a growing following in this country recently."

Bail speaks at Pan-American celebration

President Bail spoke on "The Role of Education in Inter-American Relations yesterday at the Pan-American celebration of La Casa de Las Americas.

Also featured at the dinner meeting at the Regis Hotel were vocal selections by Emma Cannan, concert singer, and Spanish dancing by natives in their national costumes. During the dinner Latin-American troubadours serenaded the guests. Dr. C. S. Espinosa, associate professor of foreign languages, is director of La Casa.

Work on yearbook far from finished

The printer has all the copy, and all pictures have been delivered to the engraver, but the job of rolling out the 1949 Tomahawk is far from being completed.

This was Editor Judy Rutherford's weekend report on the progress of the yearbook.

"All the planning, writing and picture-taking has been completed, but galley proofs must be corrected and engravings must be okayed" Editor Rutherford said.

"Then the printer can make up the pages, and each of them will have to be checked. After that the pages have to be trimmed and bound."

Photography contest offers reflex camera

Camera fans have a chance to win a Ciroflex camera in a collegiate photography exhibition being sponsored by Kappa Alpha Mu fraternity.

The camera will be awarded for the best picture in the fourth annual exhibition sponsored by the fraternity at the University of Missouri.

Grand prize, a picture assignment on "Science Illustrated" magazine, is to be awarded for the best groups of six pictures.

Additional prizes of photographic accessories will be given in these categories: news, feature, sports, pictorial and industrial.

Entry blanks may be obtained in the Gateway office.

Beta Tau Kappa to right charter error

Beta Tau Kappa has set out to rectify an error in its constitution which was pointed out by President Bail.

Dr. Bail brought to the attention of the group a clause in the school's copy of their constitution which specified that it is a "Jewish fraternity". They compared it with

OU's interior gets dressed for spring

Spring means bright weather outdoors and new colors inside.

The painting now in progress in the stairways is just part of the total beautifying project for the school, Jack Adwers, building and grounds supervisor revealed.

After the stairways get their bright new coats of light and dark peccan, the first floor hall and the exterior door and window frames will be "spruced up."

Last in line for the painter's brush will be the classrooms and offices. Each of these, Adwers said, will be painted differently. The colors will be chosen on the basis of their pleasing appearance and amount of light they reflect.

'Photographer cheats on pari-mutuel shot

They blinked their eyes and scratched their heads.

The 16 "bettors" lined up at the two "pari-mutuel" windows shown in Friday's April Fool Gateway didn't remember things just as the picture showed them.

It all happened this way:

The photographer snapped two separate pictures of ticket-seekers for the "George Apley" play, then superimposed them to make two lines at two windows. A little retouching produced the "Win" and "place" signs above the windows.

It should be all clear now.

But one of the men in the right-hand line remarked to a Gateway reporter Friday, "I thought I was in the left line when the picture was taken."

their own copy which has the words "social fraternity" instead.

Harold Abramson, president of the fraternity, said Wednesday that the organization will take immediate steps to rectify the clause in accordance with the fraternity's policy against discrimination.

Thinclads open '49 season with meet on April 20

OU students will get to see seven other schools compete in four track meets on the campus this spring.

The track squad will enter a total of nine meets.

First on the schedule is a triangular meet here April 20. Doane College of Crete, Nebr. and Washburn College, Topeka, Kans. rival, will be guests. Both schools traditionally turn out strong squads.

The Sioux City Relays come three days later on April 23. Last year high jumper Glen Richter set a meet record with a leap of 6' 1".

The Red and Black will meet their crosstown foe, Creighton U., in two meets this season—once here, once on the Bluejay oval.

With warm weather finally returned to Omaha track workouts began in earnest this week.

"The team will continue to practice during Easter vacation," Head Coach Lloyd Cordwell announced. Tryouts for the varsity squad will probably be held next Friday, he predicted.

Lettermen will compete against non-lettermen in an intra-squad meet that day.

Track films will be shown at 3 this afternoon in a Quonset Hut meeting for all track candidates. Season plans will be discussed.

OU racqueteers prepare to meet Doane in opener

With their first match just around the corner, OU's tennis squad is beginning to round into shape.

The team will journey to Crete, Nebraska, April 18, where they will open their season against Doane College racqueteers.

Following the Tiger tilt, the Omahans will return to the West Dodge courts for a clash with Washburn April 20 and then hop up to Sioux City to meet Morningside on the 23.

From the looks of things now, the No. 1 chores will fall on the shoulders of Freshman Fred Pisasale. Coach George Pritchard pointed out, however, that "a lot can happen in a week and a half."

Barring further changes, the traveling squad will consist of five men. Thus far, Pisasale, the veteran Harold Hlad, Jim Reed, Dave Davis and Don Easter seem to have the nod for traveling berths.

Pritchard plans to play several other lads in the homematches, however. He mentioned Bob Wray, Don Anthes, Len Topolski, Mark Gautier, Charles Geisler and Ed Cutler as likely to see action against visiting squads.

He was quick to point out that positions on the traveling squad are not permanent, and that any man might be ousted by another squad member via defeats in intrasquad matches.

Golf squad to face tougher competition

Twelve matches, including tilts with the University of Nebraska B squad, decorate the university's 1949 golf schedule. Wichita U is another newcomer to this year's list.

Eight of the matches will be played in Omaha and five away from home. The home contests will begin at 1 at the Indian Hills Golf Club.

Last season Coach Johnny Campbell's team notched seven wins in 11 starts. This year they face a tougher schedule, but with five experienced lettermen, they should be able to better last year's record.

The weatherman has been more than kind in distributing good golf days lately and this has given the 24 candidates plenty of pre-season practice.

Qualifying matches will consist of 36 holes. All golfers are to meet this Monday at Indian Hills at 10. Coach Campbell will set up four-somes there.

'O' Club to vote for officers at next meet

The "O" Club will hold an election of officers at their next meeting, May 2.

Candidates for president are John Duffy, Rene Hlavac, Walt Matejka, Bob Shober and Ernie Flecky.

Vice president candidates are Charles Anderson, Joe Arenas, Archie Arvin, Ray Schmidt and Robert Young.

'Mural golf date set, track date undecided

The Intramural Golf Tournament has been set for May 13, 14 and 15. It will be medal play.

No date has been set for the Intramural Track meet. It will be held on a team basis this year with points awarded towards the season intramural trophy. Past meets have been Greek-Barb affairs.

Ribbons will be awarded to the winners of the first four places in each event. Most track events except javelin will be held.

Decorating class gets practical experience

Students in the Interior Decorating class are exercising their imaginations.

They are spending an imaginary sum of money for imaginary second hand furniture which they will plan imaginary redecoration.

They are also working with reality. The class took actual room plans and furniture available to two families who are moving. From this, students are working out problems faced by the families.

OU baseball squad to open season against Washburn U on April 16

Indian baseball Coach Virgil Yelkin took a step further into the baseball "swing-of-things," Wednesday, when he announced his 1949 schedule.

The West Dodge boys will play 12 games of which seven will be played at home.

The April 16 opener against Washburn University will be played at Topeka, Kansas.

Retelling last year's tilt against Washburn, Yelkin said, "They were one of the toughest teams we played and they'll be tough again this year."

Coach Yelkin pointed out that Washburn will not only have the advantage of a home game, but that their weather has probably been warmer than ours. Their facilities are better than OU's according to Yelkin.

In general, "We expect a hard season," moaned the coach. He named several teams as being exceptionally tough opponents for the OU nine. They are Washburn University, Morningside College, Creighton University, South Dakota University and South Dakota State.

Weak for a while

Turning back to OU's ballclub, Yelkin hinted they'll be weak at least for a while. One of the main weaknesses is the lack of an opportunity for the infielders to practice since the only hardball diamond out OU way is being repaired.

We'll have to be very careful with the pitchers," said Yelkin, "None of them will be able to go a full nine innings." Jack Lacy and Al Carrillo are each nursing a sore pitching arm. However, Rodger Bridenbaugh, Tom Gordon,

Lynn Hooton, Joe Spagnola and Paul Sorensen are in fair shape.

George Kostal, another pitching candidate, is hampered by school hours conflicting with practice sessions and has been forced to miss several workouts.

The battle for positions is "really getting hot," according to Yelkin.

Four of the infield veterans are battling with newcomers Chad Taylor, Robert "Bugs" Reddin and Ray Abeita to see who gets which position.

The outfielders will be chosen on their hitting talents, said Yelkin. So far there hasn't been enough batting practice to warrant the selection of the fielders.

Showed stuff Tuesday

The ball players got a chance to show their stuff, Tuesday and Wednesday, with intrasquad games.

Coach Yelkin previewed his players with the idea of cutting the squad either yesterday or today. Splitting his candidates into two squads, the Braves and the Warriors, Yelkin substituted freely throughout, allowing only the catchers to go the full nine innings.

Some of the veteran players looked good, both in fielding and hitting the ball. "We won't be able to get in a good practice until we can play on our own field," said Yelkin. Meanwhile work began on the OU diamond Wednesday with Storekeeper Mal Tepper and his crew working to get it in shape. Original plans called for a bulldozer to level and scrape the field but it was feared the dozer would cut into the diamond.

The remodeled field will include only an infield. The outfielders will work separately because of a space shortage caused by the building of the Fieldhouse.

New instruments and the long-awaited uniforms may arrive by next fall.

If the uniforms arrive, the band will march at the home football games. A trip to one of the games away is also being considered.

Lunches disappearing from cafeteria rack

"I'm hungry."

If this were just another April fool joke, it wouldn't be so bad. But this is serious.

It seems that lunches have been disappearing from the rack in the cafeteria hall.

Students without lockers have been accustomed to leave their lunches there in the morning. When they return at noon—no lunch.

Last week, one day's toll stood at 13. Either someone is mighty hungry or else there are several someones.

Mat champs go to national meet

Four O U matmen will bid for nation-wide honor today when they compete in the National AAU mat tourney at Cedar Rapids, Ia.

The four - Dick Holst, Charlie Mancuso, Bill Fuiks, and Fred Pisasale - earned the right to make the Iowa trip by capturing laurels in the Midwest AAU tourney here in Omaha last week.

A fifth Omahan, heavyweight Howie Byram, also captured a Midwest title last week but decided not to make the journey to the nationals.

With the exception of Mancuso, the OU lads will wrestle in the same weight division as in the Midwest meet. Mancuso will drop from the 191-lb. class to 155 for the coming tourney. Last week he won the Midwest 191-lb. crown after weighing in at 156.

Another Indian, little Rich Nigro, will also compete in the mat carnival unattached. He was second in the 118-lb. class last week.

WAA-ers journey to Midland for meeting

Four WAA members and Miss Enid Wolcott, acting head of the Women's Physical Education Department, attended the sixth annual convention of the Athletic Federation of College Women at Midland College in Fremont Saturday.

Attending were Jean Bressler, WAA president; Virginia Layher, president-elect; and members Ruth Will and Sarah Garro.

Colleges from all over Nebraska were there to discuss problems connected with physical education. OU delegates led in the discussion of "Ways of Raising Money and Projects."

With business out of the way, delegates attended a tea, a banquet, and a square dancing party.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

Chi Omegas elect Clifton president

Darlene Clifton is the new president of the Zeta Delta chapter of Chi Omega social sorority.

Other officers are Jeanne Polard, vice president; Betsy Green, pledge mistress; Pat Perry, secretary; Judy Swafford, corresponding secretary; and Dorothy Townsend, treasurer.

Newly-established committees and chairmen are Activities, Jackie Zerbe; Social, Gloria Phene; Rush, Aileen Garver; Vocations, Doris Hanson; and Personnel, Joan Nickerson.

Officers and chairmen will be installed as soon as re-organization of the new sorority chapter is completed.

Miss Margaret Killian, former sponsor of Pi Omega Pi, will serve on the advisory board for Zeta Delta. Other board members are Mrs. John Gustafson, Miss Mildred Hollingsworth, and Mrs. Georgia Eisenhart.

Gammas create bachelor's heaven

The "Ten Commandments for a Bachelor's Heaven" will be the guiding rule Tuesday night at the Gammas' second Bachelor's Ball at the Blackstone.

The commandments decree that "eligible" males be escorted to the dance floor by their dates and have their cigarettes lighted for them. They will also be required to carry "evening bags" which will be furnished at the door.

"The Most Eligible Bachelor of '49" will be crowned by last year's Bachelor, Phil Gleason.

Candidates for the honor are Jim Tagney, Theta; John "Whitey" Jones, Alpha Sig; Al Epstein, Beta Tau Kappa; and Curt Siemers, Phi Sig.

Eddy Haddad will furnish the music from 9 to midnight.

Phi Eta Sigma to initiate members

Eleven men will be initiated into Phi Eta Sigma, national scholastic fraternity for freshmen, April 18. A grade average of 3.5 or better is required for membership.
